This Faculty Council of elected reps meets regularly as an autonomous self-governing body around its own table, where the Council sets the agenda and takes its direction according to the issues, questions, and concerns that the elected reps bring from their colleagues in each department.

This same Faculty Council has seats reserved for each of its department-elected reps at the table where the Dean calls meetings of the Executive Council – and where the School Senators, members of certain standing committees, and other faculty and administrators also have a seat.
