Les manifestations graphiques aurignaciennes sur support rocheux des environs des Eyzies

The article provides an overview of the sites where Aurignacian engravings have been found around the area of Les Eyzies, including a brief introduction to the area and breakdown of experimental work concerning Aurignacian engravings. For each site, the authors include an overview of its location, a brief history of research, a description of the stratigraphy, and a detailed analysis and description of each block found at the site.

Savignac-de-Miremont

For La Ferrassie, notes the location and provides a map. Discusses that the cave is well-known and was the source of a number of excavations at the end of the 19th century. Describes the excavations and findings of Peyrony during the early 20th century at the site. Provides detailed description of 21 blocks and notes that at least 8 of the blocks described originally by Peyrony are missing.