Financial Aid Discount

Undergraduate Financial Aid and Tuition Discount Rate

The Undergraduate Tuition Discount Rate is calculated by taking the sum of all Undergraduate Financial Aid and dividing it by the Gross Undergraduate Tuition Revenue. Gross Tuition is calculated before Financial Aid, but after Balance of Trade.

The Undergraduate Tuition Discount Rate is a meaningful statistic at the School level, however is not as meaningful at the Graduate or Doctoral level because of wide variations between programs. Therefore, only the Undergraduate population is presented here.