List of cases

Below are links to case studies on the strategies pursued in different societies to deal with legacies of inter-group conflict or group exclusion in the aftermath of political crises that brought these issues forward. Each case study consists of two sections: (I) a section on the historical background of inter-group conflict or group exclusion prior to the crisis and (II) a section on strategies adopted to manage inter-group conflict or group exclusion after the crisis as well as the consequences of such strategies. The case studies include summaries of studies as well as links to resources on the web that help to provide more nuance on the cases.