Collaborations

To make our research projects as engaging, creative, and effective as possible, CDSC collaborates with various partners throughout the research process. These collaborators include other researchers with whom we design studies, web technology companies who help us convert our in-person content to online platforms, and artistic collaborators who provide the creative content (e.g., images, animations, etc.) for each of our studies.