Lab Dress

Students must dress appropriately when in the lab, especially when you are going to be interacting with the public. The lab’s dress code is “casual professional.” Unprofessional dress, for example, ripped jeans, low cut or revealing shirts, skirts that are more than a couple of inches above the knee, clothing with potentially offensive messages, exposed bra straps, exposed underwear, sloppy clothes, baseball caps, and sweatpants and sweatshirts, is not acceptable when interacting with parents. Makeup and accessories should be kept to a minimum. Students who come to a shift in unprofessional dress may be asked to change.
