Activity and Passivity: Class and Gender in the Case of the Artificial Hand
Clare Stainthorp

Rudyard Kipling’s Tactical Impressionism
Chris Ortiz y Prentice

The “After-Life” of Illness: Reading against the Deathbed in Gaskell’s Ruth and Nineteenth-Century Convalescent Devotionals
Hosanna Krienke

Sanitation and Telepathy: George Eliot’s The Lifted Veil
Derek Woods

Confessions of an English Green Tea Drinker: Sheridan Le Fanu and the Medical and Metaphysical Dangers of Green Tea
Melissa Dickson

Euthanasia and (D)Evolution in Speculative Fiction
Nancée Reeves

Gods and Ghost-Light: Ancient Egypt, Electricity, and X-Rays
Eleanor Dobson

Tono-Bungay and Burroughs Wellcome: Branding Imperial Popular Medicine
Meegan Kennedy

“A Seriousness that Fails”: Reconsidering Symbolism in Oscar Wilde’s Salomé
Yeeyon Im

WORK IN PROGRESS

Charles Kingsley’s The Water-Babies: Industrial England, the Irish Famine, and the American Civil War
Catherine Judd

REVIEW ESSAYS

Victorians Live
Herbert Sussman, Editor

Alice in Manhattan
U. C. Knoepflmacher

Facing Britain’s Imperial Past?
Kate Nichols

The Victorian Art Scene in 2016: Pre-Raphaelite Women Artists and Marie Spartali Stillman’s Overdue Retrospective in the UK
Margaret D. Stetz

The Fallen Woman
Hilary Fraser