Volume 42, Number 4 (2014)

Arthur Hallam’s Spirit Photograph and Tennyson’s Elegiac Trace
Jesse Hoffman

Authenticity and Non-Standard Speech in Great Expectations
Margaret J-M. Sönmez

“Such a Strong Wish for Wings”: The Life of Charlotte Brontë and Elizabeth Gaskell’s Fallen Angels
Meghan Burke Hattaway

The Socially-Embedded Market and the Future of English Capitalism in Anthony Trollope’s The Way We Live Now
Denise Lovett

Romance Narrative in Hardy’s A Pair of Blue Eyes
John P. Farrell

Whiteness, Miscegenation, and Anti-Colonial Rebellion in Rudyard Kipling’s The Man Who Would Be King
Sharleen Mondal

REVIEW ESSAY

The New Other Victorians: The Success (and Failure) of Queer Theory in Nineteenth-Century British Studies
Richard A. Kaye